Arise acquires permitted Mombyåsen (33 MW) project from E.ON Wind Sweden AB

The Mombyåsen project is located in the municipality of Sandviken, just to the south of the Jädraås Wind Farm, which has been operating since 2012 and is half-owned by Arise.

The planned wind farm in Mombyåsen is covered by a permit for up to twelve wind turbines, of which it is intended to build ten. The project was originally developed by E.ON Wind Sweden AB.

Arise has now acquired all project rights from E.ON Wind Sweden AB and intends to build the wind farm on behalf of another owner. Negotiations with the intended buyer are underway.

When completed and operating, the ten turbine wind farm is expected to produce over 100 GWh of electricity per year.
